Shaun Taylor - holds off a challenge.

have to be confident we can make it seven.

It was an exciting game at London Road. They played well in the first 20-minutes and we came back with some excellent football. All in all it was a very entertaining game. It ended 3-3 but we should have taken the points. Let us hope we do that today.

As you know we have spent this week in Spain. Just a little break to help re-charge the batteries and do a bit of training. It has been a welcome break and hasn't cost the club a thing thanks to local support and sponsorship.

Our grateful thanks then to: Swindon Cable, Bamptons, Bass Brewery, Allied Dunbar, Bowerhill Machine Tools, Monahans, Skurveys, SAS Travel, Silver Knight Coaches, Bassett Bookmakers, Burmah Petroleum Fuels and Channel 4.

Finally, as those of you who read the local press will know, we tried desperately to bolster our playing staff last week before the transfer deadline without success. I must have attempted to sign five or six players such as Gudni Bergsson from Spurs and Steve Clark of Chelsea on loan but there was nothing doing.

There were a few players I could have taken but I didn't feel they would strengthen our squad. So in the end we decided to go with what we have got.

This can be for the better in the long run. For example I think Nicky Summerbee is getting better and better in his position at the back. We all know he is a wonderful crosser of the ball, one of the best I've seen and he has been working at his defensive play. He wants to listen and is learning quickly. If he continues like this he can make that position his own now ... There are still a few strings to our bow if everyone gets back to fitness.

end of the day someone up there is trying to make it difficult for us.

On the face of it we looked capable of taking all three points at Brentford. Before the red card incidents we were in control and had just seen them clear one off the line. We were stepping up a gear, had a couple of good chances, and you just felt it was going to come. Then came the rush of blood and the rest is history.

What happened in the dressing room afterwards is a private matter between David and myself. He knows he let not only himself down but the team and the fans.

What can I say. You were there in numbers again, absolutely superb. We thought we were playing at home such was the vocal backing. When muscles were aching and legs were tired it was just the tonic to keep the lads going. Thanks to all of you.

Today we take on Peterborough United and there is no question this is a big game for us. We have to get back on the winning streak to maintain our challenge ... We have won the last six at home and Obviously we were very disappointed with the two sending offs at Brentford last week. Particularly Steve White's, I felt he was a bit unfortunate. It was more of a clumsy challenge than anything else.

As for Dave Mitchell. The referee warned him. I warned him. He deserved everything he got. I was not pleased with him and had a word on the bus after the game to make sure it will never ever happen again.

Down to nine men we decided at half-time that we would play with no one up front for the first 20 minutes or so and see how it went. We felt we could do that then bring Shaun Close on to maybe try and snatch one on the break. In the end we nearly did it when Paul Bodin was set-up by Shaun.

At the end we had to be well pleased with a point. Down to nine men the lads showed tremendous character and a lot of ability and talent particularly in our defending.

The problem is that as we enter the most critical phase of the campaign we shall be without the services of our two strikers for two or three games. My first thought was that it was after the deadline which rules us out of going and getting a replacement on loan.

Apart from Shaun Close and Craig Maskell, who has been out injured, we have only lads from the youth team and Chris Hamon from Jersey, inexperienced in the first team - to call upon so at the

SUNDAY 2ND MAY 1993
SWINDON TOWN vs WEST HAM UNITED

Kick off: 2.55pm

NEWS ON one

Both of the teams currently occupying the automatic promotion spots came from behind to take the share of the points in their games last Sunday. West Ham United went one down in the East End derby clash at Upton Park when Millwall's Jamie Moralee scored after just forty seconds. Two goals from Kevin Keen and Trevor Morley sent the Hammers in at the break leading 2-1 but a 77th minute strike from Keith Stevens denied West Ham full points.

At St James' Park Newcastle United were stunned when Birmingham City took a two goal lead through new signing from Hartlepool Andy Saville and Ian Rodgeron. Two goals in as many minutes from Andy Cole and Robert Lee gave Newcastle a point to remain five points clear of second place Hammers.

Bristol City chairman Les Kew defended the Anglo Italian Cup saying that the competition had generated £1.5 million, of which half came from last Saturday's final at Wembley when Cremonese beat Derby County 3-1. Rams boss Arthur Cox said that his side were well and truly beaten by a better side. In the final, yet four more players were booked taking the total in the competition this season to 79 yellow cards and 19 dismissals!

Wolves maintained their slim chances of reaching the play-offs with a 2-1 win over Sunderland at Molineaux last Saturday but manager Graham Turner, who has taken the club from the Fourth Division in 1988 to their present position remains under pressure. Turner however does not have any excuses: "The work going on around us at Molineaux to redevelop the ground has not helped us but it is not an excuse for any of the home games we have lost. At times we have looked capable of mounting a serious challenge for promotion but we have failed to win some important games and have often struggled against teams at the bottom."

Another club who have probably missed out on a place in the play-offs is Charlton when despite leading the table for the opening months of the season have been unable to maintain a top six slot. Joint manager Alan Curbishley says however that they may still make it: "A consistent run is now needed if we are to have a realistic chance of making it. The lads however deserve a special mention for their efforts in view of our injury problems. But as always whoever pulls on a red shirt gives everything and a bit more."

Portsmouth's convincing 3-0 win over Oxford at Fratton Park last week edged the south coast side within a point of West Ham in second spot and will ensure a tight battle until the end of the season for the automatic promotion places. Much of Pompey's success this season has been due to their impressive home record where they have only conceded eight goals all season. Despite the publicity surrounding ace goalscorer Guy Whittingham much praise has been directed at central defenders Andy Awford and Kit Symons aged twenty and twenty one respectively. Both players have been linked to big money moves but both remain at Fratton Park. Symons is a great fan of his partner Awford "I'm sure Andy will become a top player and it is my bet that he will one day captain England."

Arthur Cox - Well beaten

Peterborough United

Peterborough United kicked off their first ever season in the First Division with a 1-0 win over Derby County at London Road last August. Chris Turner was in charge of the team he had steered to promotion and he entered the new venture with a typically down to earth appraisal of the situation, claiming: "It is going to be bloody hard - I hope the expectations are not too high."

Turner, a former player who after filling the shoes of centre-half John Wile following his £25,000 transfer to WBA in the early seventies, then continued his career with Luton and Cambridge United, must have been quietly proud at how well his team adapted to the higher level.

For most of the season Posh have been within striking distance of the play-offs, though in recent weeks the gap has somewhat widened even if Peterborough have maintained their mid-table position.

Their home goalless draw with Watford last Saturday goes some way to explaining why they have lost ground. At London Road just five wins and nine draws has cost them 18 or more points this season.

Contrast that with their away record which shows eight wins - a total only bettered by First Division leaders Newcastle United.

There are some prize scalps too with Leicester City (2-0) and Derby County (3-2) among their victims. Wins have also been posted at Southend United (1-0), Barnsley (2-1), Grimsby (3-1), Watford (2-1), Bristol City (1-0) and Brentford (1-0).

The last away success though was at the end of February at Griffin Park. Since then they have suffered successive away defeats at Sunderland (3-0) and Bristol Rovers (3-1).

Lil Fuccillo, who started the season as coach, is now the manager after Chris Turner was elevated to chairman. Under the new regime the style of play has been tailored somewhat differently with a little more emphasis now on passing in midfield.

Like us, money has been in short supply preventing a spending spree last week though the club did not think it had strengthened its attack by acquiring Kevin Bartlett from Notts County. They were somewhat surprised when the former Portsmouth striker signed for arch rivals Cambridge United!

Still one transaction which did go through saw Chris Greenman join them from Coventry City on a free transfer. Chris, a 24-year-old Bristolian, had been at Highfield Road since leaving school. He made just four First Division appearances for the Sky Blues - the first against Crystal Palace in October 1991, was at leftback. The other three at the centre of the defence.

That is where Chris made his Posh debut last Saturday in the goalless draw with Watford. The line-up was: Bennett, Bradshaw, Spearing, Cooper, Greenman, Welsh, Sterling (Howarth), McGlashan, Adcock, Philliskirk (Iorfa), Barnes.

David Robinson and Ken Charlery were very much part of the scene at the start of the season but Robinson, a central defender who had cost a club record £100,000 from Halifax, was sold to Notts County in September for £425,000. While Charlery, a £35,000 capture from Maidstone last year, moved on to Watford last October after scoring six goals in 14 games this season.

Others to contribute to the effort include fullback Noel Luke who arrived on a free transfer from Mansfield in 1986 and is now the longest serving player on the books. Noel made his 250th League appearance for Posh in the opening game of the season against Derby.

At the other end of the scale young Andy Curtis, who scored in the 3-2 win at the Baseball Ground, is a highly promising prospect. Andy made his League debut at Grimsby on October 3rd when he went on as a substitute.

was after moving to Northampton that he really hit the headlines with 37 goals in 99 League outings. A well balanced player who on his day can be devastating. Cost Posh £60,000 mid-way through last season. Born: Kingston 17-12-62.

IAN BENNETT - Goalkeeper.
An ever-present in the Peterborough side this season, Ian's form has attracted a whole host of Premier League scouts. THE MAN IN CHARGE

PASQUALE 'LIL' FUCCILLO was elevated to manager in mid-December 1992 after a highly successful term as Coach.

Born and bred in Bedford, the son of Italian parents, he joined Luton Town as an apprentice in 1973 and spent 10 years with the Hatters. Made his League debut at 19, in 1976, but a succession of serious injuries limited him to just 160 appearances (24 goals).

An industrious and highly skilled midfielder, noted for his forward surges into shooting positions, he enjoyed some of Luton's best years winning a Second Division Championship medal before participating in a side that was never out of the top seven in Division One.

In 1983 he quit to join Tulsa Roughnecks and helped them win the North American equivalent of our FA Cup with a victory over Toronto Blizzards.

Lil returned to the U.K. and played 45 League games for Southend United before joining Peterborough United. Clocking up another 82 League games with Posh before renewing his association with Chris Turner at Cambridge United.

Finished his League career in 1987 but continued to perform with Kettering Town, then Wivenhoe (Diordora Champions), before returning to London Road as Coach in January 1991.

Born: Bedford 2-5-56.

Those were the days...

BY PAUL PLOWMAN

... looks back at previous connections with today's visitors

Peterborough first visited the County Ground as a Football League club 31 years ago this week, on April 7 1962. They had previously made the journey as members of the Midland League when they held the Town to a 1-1 draw in an F.A. Cup Second Round tie in December 1955, before losing the replay at London Road.

Having been elected to the Fourth Division in 1960, Posh won it at the first attempt, hitting no less than 85 League goals at home including two 7's and three 6's. Ace marksman Terry Bly accounted for 52 of their mammoth total of 134 for the season.

Swindon kept Bly at bay in the first clash at London Road on November 18 1961, but Peterborough still went on to clinch the points. Winger Billy Hails put them ahead after a quarter of an hour, but the Town hit back with two goals in six minutes from wing-half Peter Chamberlain - making his first League appearance of the season - and an Ernie Hunt penalty. Two second-half strikes, by Roy Senior and George Hudson, gave Posh a 3-2 verdict.

That scoreline was reversed in the fixture at Swindon. On this occasion the Town were two goals up in 17 minutes, through Mike Summerbee and big Bill

Atkins. Keith Ripley pulled one back ten minutes after the interval, but Hunt's 79th minute goal proved decisive. Bly finally got his name on the scoresheet a minute from time, but it failed to change the destiny of the points.

The clubs next met at Easter 1963, following one of the worst winters for fixture chaos since the War. Peterborough, were then managed by Jack Fairbrother - who incidentally was a former playing colleague of Summerbee's father George (Nicky's grandfather) at Preston and best man at his wedding. Posh were in third place in the Third Division table when they came to the County Ground on Good Friday. But the result was not so good for leaders Swindon, performing in front of a 23,239 crowd. They had the perfect start when Ernie Hunt put them ahead after only 45 seconds, but two goals in as many minutes, from Peter McNamee and Roy Horobin turned the tide in Posh's favour. Hunt struck again seven minutes after the break but the game ended 3-2 yet again when John Turley hit a 63rd minute winner.

Colchester came to Swindon on the following day and felt the full force of the backlash as they were blasted 6-1, John Stevens grabbing a remarkable six minute hat-trick either side of half-time. Peterborough completed a League 'double' when almost 15,000 turned up at London Road on Easter Monday to see them record a 3-1 victory. Senior and Turley (twice) scored for Posh with the Town's reply coming from winger Eric Weaver.

The two reverses were enough to remove Swindon from pole position, Northampton taking over on goal average, and a further defeat at Notts County - themselves on the rebound from a 5-0 drubbing at Bradford Park Avenue - looked to be stifling the Town's promotion ambitions. But four wins and two draws from the final six games of the campaign were enough to take them up. A Second Division slot was secured on May 14 1963 when a single goal from Roger Smart, who celebrated his 50th birthday last week, gave Swindon victory against Shrewsbury in front of a 20,273 attendance at the County Ground.

Welcome to everyone here today from the Commercial Department for what I'm sure will be a very exciting game.

Swindon Cable

We are delighted to welcome back Swindon Cable who are sponsoring today's vital game. The company is in fact celebrating on two fronts - the fact that now one third of all homes in Swindon are watching cable television (an industry first) and secondly the opening of a new cable showroom at 37 Regent Circus. Today's party is headed by General Manager, David Gosling and the guests include group Managing Director Stewart Redman, several key managers and staff, Paul Lancaster and Nobby Swatton from Cable's own Local Channel.

Also included are several winners from competitions run on Swindon Cable's behalf in the local media.

Shop News

We are now only three home games from the end of the season and anyone who has visited the shop will have noticed that we have some very exciting lines on offer. There is now only limited availability on replica kit and with an eye on the play-offs please don't miss out.

We have just introduced personalised Swindon Town Football Club clocks. These are very high quality and excellent value and of course can be personalised with a name and message of your choice. There is also a limited edition that Glenn Hoddle has individually signed. Order them from the shop and receive them within 7 days. A great way to commemorate a birthday or special occasion.

The Kick leisurewear is proving very popular and really good value at £14.99 for adult sizes in all styles and special children's designs at £7.99.

Business Luncheon

The last of our successful Business Luncheons for this season is taking place in the Executive Suite at The Costing just £7.50 each, tickets are available now from the Commercial Department on Swindon 430430.

Sporting Club Dinner

Wednesday 21 April sees another of the Club's popular Sporting Club Dinners at the De Vere Hotel in Swindon.

Guest speakers on this occasion are Garry Richardson from BBC Radio 5 and Ian Darke, Sky Sports football Commentator. They make a marvellous pair in their brilliant after dinner routine and bookings are now being taken in the Commercial Office.

Tickets are £30 each with tables of ten available at £280 each.

Race Night

The end of season Race Night will be held in its new venue of the Supporters Social Club on Thursday 6 May. The Tote opens at 7.45. The cost per head is £2.50 and reservations can be made for tables of four persons or more. Reservation forms are available from the Commercial Offices and Club Shop.

MASCOTS

Today we are fortunate enough to have two mascots leading the Robins onto the pitch, they are Stephen Doore from Old Town and Matthew Clark from Peatmoor.

Stephen is eight years old and attends the Lethbridge Junior School. His hobbies include swimming, reading and football. In his spare time he plays on the left wing for the Old Town Rovers. Stephen's favourite players are Micky Hazard and our captain Colin Calderwood.

Our second mascot is Matthew who is also eight years old. He attends The Brookfield School in Shaw, West Swindon. One of Matthew's favourite pastimes is watching Thunderbirds and Stingray on television but when the TV isn't on he enjoys playing chess. His favourite team of course is Swindon Town with his favourite players being Steve White and Glenn Hoddle.

Have a nice day lads!

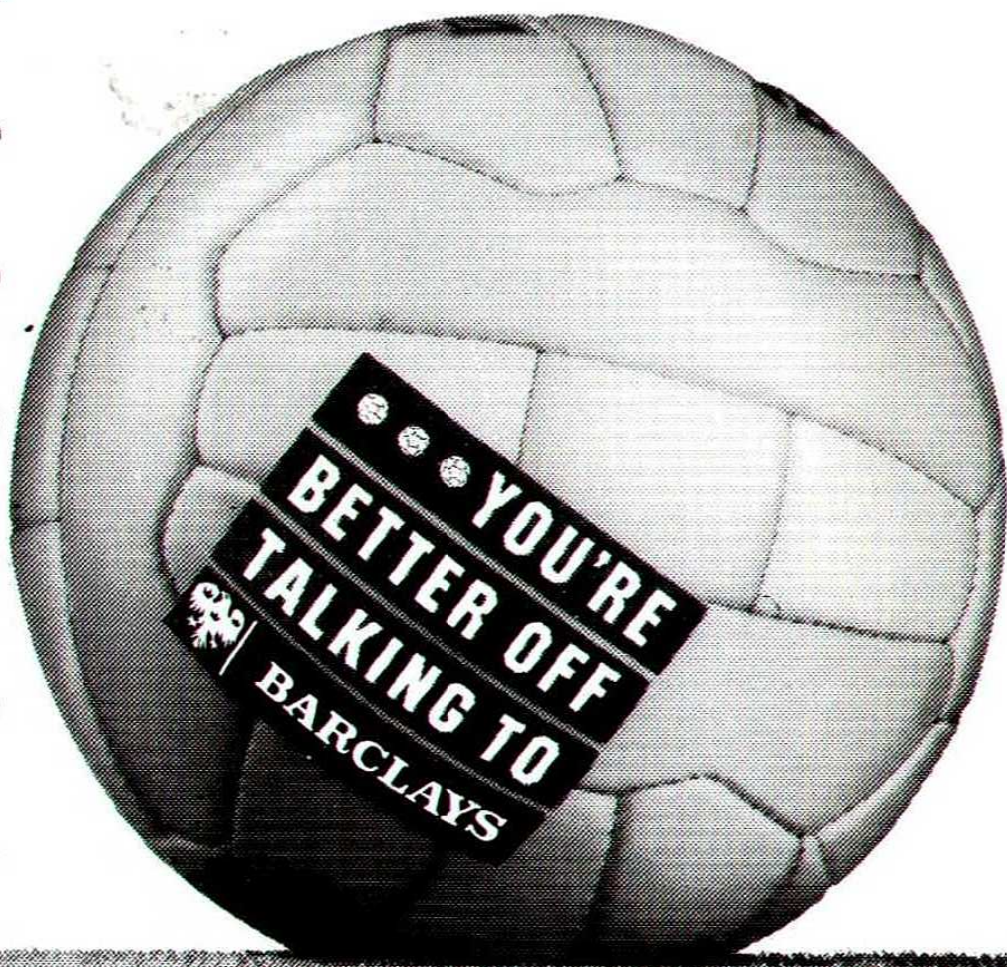

Junior Robins

Good afternoon to all those Junior Robins out there today. I would just like to take this opportunity to remind you that indoor training has now finished for this season, although those of you who are still keen on training please contact Paul Wainwright for more details on outside training. I would also like to extend our thanks to the caretakers and staff at Churchfields School for their help and support over the last few seasons.

Away Trip to Notts County

For all those regular travellers on the Junior Robins away trips you will be happy to hear that our next planned trip will be to Notts County on the 24th April. We are hoping to see more faces for this trip, so please return your booking forms as soon as possible to secure your place.

PLAYER PROFILE

A couple of days before our eventful afternoon at Griffin Park I was discussing the current situation with striker Shaun Close. While obviously disappointed not to be a regular in the starting line he refused to complain about his lot; appealing more than anything for the chance of an extended run.

Claimed Shaun: "I can't complain even if it is frustrating to have only started once this season - in the Anglo Italian Cup tie at Oxford. What I really need is a run of five or six matches to give me the chance to show what I can do."

"I'm becoming known as 'the Nearly Man'" he joked. "I need that little bit of luck to convince people I'm worth keeping in the side."

Like the winning goal at Brentford - I suggested.

"Exactly," responded Shaun enthusiastically.

Truth is the dream almost came true on a hectic afternoon when Town were reduced to nine men having had both strikers, Steve White and David Mitchell, sent-off.

For the opening 25 minutes of the second half Glenn kept it tight at the back. Then he brought on Shaun in a brave gamble to try and take all three points.

It wasn't the best of situations in which to prove your point for the former Spurs man was a lone figure chasing balls to the left, balls to the right, and down the middle. But he posed the Brentford defence many awkward questions and almost set up what would have been a glorious match-winning goal.

Having pulled to the right and taken the markers with him Shaun then crossed perfectly to set up Paul Bodin for the sort of chance we have seen him take in his stride. This time, alas, the Welsh International's shot screamed over the bar!

"I was just happy to get on", says Shaun. "You feel so out of it when you are in the reserves and not in the first-team squad. You begin to just go through the motions. Ticking over hoping you will be noticed by somebody.

"You have to perform well at that level to have any chance of promotion but it is a battle to keep your mind and your belief in yourself.

"Being on the subs bench for a first team game is much more rewarding. Just to be involved is stimulating. Thankfully I have been included for the last dozen games. You miss not playing on a Saturday. We spend all week building up for a Saturday game and the whole thing goes dead if there is no fixture as is often the case with the reserve team.

"Having got on the bench your next hope is that you will get on of course. Usually you are put on to try and change the course of a game which is a big responsibility but a great challenge.

"From the stands it all looks so easy. One player comes off the other slots in. They expect you to perform immediately. It's not that simple. The pace of the game is so quick it can take you 15 minutes or more to come to terms with the rhythm of the game.

"The crowd can get at you at times because of this. It is just a lack of understanding. Coming on in a fast moving game can be like trying to jump on a merry-go-round when it is going its fastest."

Problems or not Shaun's not moaning. He claims: "I just want to be involved even if it is only in the 13.

"I haven't made my mark here yet but there is still time. I know Glenn likes my first-touch and feels that I offer another dimension to the game. What I need to do is persuade him to start with me in the side.

"I'm not a prolific scorer - never will be. I'll score goals but will make more for others than I get. I haven't modelled myself on Peter Beardsley but feel that I perform a similar role to him. Darting around bringing others into the play.

"I'm not a replacement for Chalkie or Dave. They go around putting themselves about and creating havoc. They are very good at upsetting defenders and charging in. That's not my game. I'm more of a target-man who flicks balls off to others.

"I'm not very tall either but I read Kevin Keegan's book and noted the importance he placed on body strength. He claimed he was like a little pocket-battleship. I'm probably in the same shape physically having worked hard with weights to improve my upper body strength.

"To be honest I don't care how big the defender is if the ball is played in low to me. In fact I get something out of being kicked by them - it is a sure sign I'm winding them up because they can't get the ball.

"When you play this way you need a good referee to protect you. Manchester United's Mark Hughes is probably the best exponent of this style. He's so strong. Again he makes more goal chances for others than he takes himself.

"At Tottenham I suffered a broken foot and busted my knee-ligaments. Yet I gain real satisfaction from holding the ball up and slotting it in to other players. When the big centre-halves see my stature they think they can try it on. When they bounce off me they get a shock.

"All I have asked for since I came from Bournemouth is a chance to show what I can do."

Ironically that chance could be just around the corner with the impending suspensions of White and Mitchell about to seriously blunt our cutting edge. It's not the way Shaun would have wanted it to happen but if he is given the opportunity you can be assured this pocket-battleship will go in full stern ahead.

Gorman's GROOVE

JOHN GORMAN

This afternoon we aim to have come back from our short break in Spain refreshed and ready for the final eight games of the season.

It's been a very hard season but also a really exciting one and we have still got everything to play for.

The atmosphere at our last home League game against Bristol City was electric. Let's hope today's game will again bring out the best in both the players and fans.

We welcome today Lil Fuccillo, his staff and all supporters from Peterborough United let's hope that we can see some goals in quality and quantity similar to those at London Road earlier in the season. Peterborough have one of the best away records in the League this season.

We had a lot of knock backs in our search for a loan player prior to the transfer deadline last week.

In the end we decided that we would not bring in another player just for the sake of another body unless he was of the quality to improve our squad.

With hopefully all of our long term injuries now fully fit again we really feel that we have the squad and the spirit already here to do the job. We have also been very pleased with the way Brian Marwood has settled in since coming here last month. He has given us a nice bit of quality and experience. Buying players does not always guarantee success as has been shown before at lots of clubs.

I think that it would be interesting if teams were only allowed to get their squad organised before the season starts with a maximum of say twenty five and were only allowed loan players when serious injuries occur during the campaign and not be able to keep on buying.

This would put more emphasis on the coaching and improvement of your own players and would allow the younger players more time to mature in the Reserves.

Every team would then be judged by the players you set out with and make for more loyalty amongst the players, fans and club alike.

When I think back to when I was at Celtic way back in the late 60's we hardly ever bought or sold that many players at all. Nearly all the players came through the system being brought up through the Youth and Reserve Team ranks for about five years until you were ready for the first team coached on the skills and style of the team.

I remember players who became full Internationals even after not making the first team regularly until they were 24 years old. It could not have been a bad idea as the club were twice in the European Cup Final when I was there. There was a lot of feeling for the club as loyalty was a major quality and financial rewards were given for long service. It brings stability to clubs and a family feeling with the supporters.

I can see that the fans of Swindon Town do not like parting with players they enjoy watching and I'm sure that this would keep players more satisfied and settled at clubs until the time was right for both parties to separate.

I've no doubt that I'll have a few stories about our trip to Spain in next week's programme when we meet Luton Town.

Til then

Brian Marwood - settled in

Home & Away

Just seven games left after today - three of them at home to Luton Town, Leicester City and West Ham United. What a climax to what is already proving to be one of the most exciting seasons ever.

Before that however, we have a difficult assignment this coming Tuesday when we travel up to Prenton Park to try and dent Tranmere Rovers' impressive home record.

Ten wins and four draws from 18 home games is their proud boast with 37 goals for and just 19 against. There is no love lost between the two clubs either following that floodlight failure here which seemed to upset our friends from Birkenhead. They wanted the points as they were leading 2-1 when the game was abandoned ... We beat them 2-0 in the re-run.

After a disappointing series of results Tranmere's fading promotion hopes were given a life last week at Southend where recent signing Tommy Coyne scored his first goal for the club to win the game.

Rovers were in action last night too, at home to Derby County, but can Town clinch only a fourth win in 15 visits to Prenton Park? It should be worth watching to find out.

Then next Saturday we are home again for an Easter treat with Luton Town. There were no goals when we visited the Hatters two-and-a-half weeks ago but the odds against a repeat of that must be high.

Mind you it is almost 21 years to the week since we last scored a home goal against the Hatters in the League. Rogers and Horsfield scoring in a 2-0 win.

Luton have been here twice since then. Beating us 2-0 on both occasions, in 1972 and '74!

David Pleat's side ended a run of five games without a win when they beat Cambridge United 2-0 last Saturday. Chris Kamara - you remember him - was called back from a loan spell with Middlesbrough to bolster the side.

It was a spectacular goal from former Chelsea star Kerry Dixon that sent the Hatters another rung up the ladder from the relegation zone however. Dixon, on loan from Southampton, will be one to watch.

In recent away games Mr Pleat has opted for a five-man midfield so our lads will have their work cut out to break them down. There will be no Steve White or David Mitchell in the Town attack - they will be under suspension !!! It could be a nail biting afternoon.

COLIN'S CORNER

WITH
CALDERWOOD

We were gasping a bit after that game at Brentford last week. We have had three different goalless draws this season against Newcastle, Luton and Brentford. Just looking at the results people could be tempted to draw comparisons. They would be wrong.

Sometimes you have to be at a game to know the true story. At Newcastle we produced some marvellous football but no finish. At Luton we simply didn't play. And at Brentford where we were reduced to nine men in the first half, we really battled.

We defended well but I think Brentford changed their style a bit. They are quite direct, get the ball in the box and work off flick-ons and knock downs. But then they started trying to pass it through us which played into our hands.

We didn't leave anybody up front so we still had nine behind the ball until the last 20 minutes or so when the gaffer tried to go for a win.

The referee asked me to have a word with Mitch because he was rabbiting on and could be in a lot of trouble. Unfortunately Mitch then made a rash tackle and was forced to follow Chalkie for an early bath.

To be fair the referee explained why he had sent them off. But you see worse things and no action taken.

We decided at half-time to try and stop Brentford playing wide by encouraging the centre-halves to come through the middle. Centre-halves sometimes get a little nervous when they cross the halfway line in the middle. It is a more difficult ball to play in than from the wide positions.

It worked and we were delighted with the point. If Paul Bodin had stuck the one chance we had in the second half away we wouldn't have needed the plane to take us to Spain!

It is Peterborough today. I wish we had won as many games away from home as they have. We will give them the respect they deserve today. They stole a quick lead on us at their place and I think they are a side that can score anywhere so we shall have to be sharp.

BENNO

Confusion clouded the event in the press box at Griffin Park last Saturday. Had Solihull referee Vic Callow sent David Mitchell off for a red card offence or for two yellow cards?

The difference can be critical with regard to the punishment of course. The press naturally wanted to record the correct verdict.

Yes we had seen Mr Callow pull out the yellow card before the red. But he had done that a little while earlier by mistake when sending off Steve White.

This is by no means a criticism of the official who played it by the book, as indeed do all referees in this country. The thing is that Britain is the only country in Europe that abides by the directive laid down by FIFA that says when a player is cautioned for a second time the referee must display "simultaneously" both cards. The yellow for the booking; the red to indicate that it is a second caution and thus a sending-off.

It didn't take them long on the continent to discover such signals hard to clarify. Most European Associations simply altered their procedures advising their referees to show clearly first the yellow card then the red, by holding them clearly above the culprit one after the other.

Thankfully FIFA have recognised the flaw in their instructions and the rules have now been changed so that the procedure now practised on the continent will become the law as of the start of next season. But why oh why wait for then. Why doesn't the F.A. give a directive for it to start work immediately and save us all the guess work.

It is a measure of Paul Bodin's class that when he received a pass from Shaun Close in the closing stages of the game at Brentford nearly everyone expected him to score.

Alas, on this occasion Paul was unable to add to his seven League goals this season and afterwards confided to me: "It was probably too good a ball really from Shaun.

"Looking back on it I realised I had a lot more time and could have taken it in closer. I struck it well enough. Just disappointed I didn't hit the target more than anything.

"In those positions I usually hit the target in training as well as on match days. It was just a pity it went over the bar this time.

"It was a good point in the end though. Playing with nine men against a team like that is always going to be a battle, even with eleven players. So to hold on for a point with nine we did ourselves proud to be honest.

"Until the red cards we were bossing the game. It was particularly hard to lose the two strikers for they have been playing well for us lately. Holding the ball up and playing people in. Obviously once you lose your two front men in quick succession the game is always going to be difficult to chase."

Paul of course did not travel with the Town party to Spain on Sunday. He made for Cardiff to prepare for the World Cup qualifier between Wales and Belgium. Congratulations Paul.

Today's opponents, Peterborough United have surprised a lot of people with their performances this season after winning a place in Division One through the play-off final at Wembley last May.

John Gorman says: "They have surprised a few teams this season and they have a very good away record. It is going to be quite a game. We are excellent at home; they are excellent away from home.

"Since Lil took over they have mixed it up a little. They are playing a good style of football, not quite as direct as before. They are a good passing side.

"But to be honest we are on a crest at home at the moment and I feel the lads now go out expecting to win which is very good. We are playing well and their performance at Brentford emphasised the character in the side.

"We are ready for the final battle with eight games to go and we'll give everything to try and win promotion to the Premier League."

Well said John - we look forward to those little dances of delight you make down the line when things go right.

Paul Bodin -

INSIGHT

With the recession digging deeper and ready cash in short supply the demands placed on our Commercial Department become even greater.

It certainly has not been the best of times for Janet Garrett to launch her career in football, but her sunny smile and warm personality is proving quite persuasive when it comes to asking hard headed business men to part with their cash.

Janet, who was installed as Town's Commercial Manager last October when Mike Sullivan left to join Millwall, is certainly not inhibited by the challenge even though she admits her only knowledge of the game before she came, initially as his assistant, was the 1966 World Cup - which she had watched on TV - and the fact that the teams changed goals at half-time.

Still, for a girl who became the first female representative for local builders merchants F.J. Reeves the sales path to corporate sponsorship and advertising at the County Ground is pretty civilised in comparison.

Recalls Janet: "We were given Hillman Imp cars and after six months intensive training let loose on unsuspecting builders. It is not easy trying to sell to men who are only used to dealing with male reps; and even harder when you are in wellies and a hard-hat and knee-deep in mud."

Fluent in French and Italian Janet's career took her on to Courtaulds then Blick International and a life of high intensity selling on the world market. That was until the recession forced redundancies.

Says Janet: "There are not that many avenues you can go down using languages and sales. It was my other half, who is a Swindon supporter, who persuaded me to apply for the job as Mike's assistant.

"Knowing nothing at all about football I arrived with no pre-conceived ideas at all. What I found was really nice. It was so relaxed compared to the big-business world I had been in where three or four of us would fight over one phone call to try and get the order.

"To start with most of my time was on the road as I went out selling perimeter advertising, programme advertising and matchball sponsorships.

"Nearly always I was made welcome by the clients who seem pleased to be able to talk to anyone from the football club."

"Since Mike left and I was given his place my feet haven't touched the ground. It is all very stimulating.

"Long, long hours of course and the pressure is even greater in a company of this size, every small decision could be significant. Particularly in respect to our current financial position.

"It isn't easy for the Board who conduct their business very efficiently. Targets are set of course and the main one is to get promotion to the Premier League.

"If we can achieve this it will make life in the commercial office so much easier. We have plenty of ideas which at the moment we just can't introduce because of the lack of funds. So many people have said they will back us if we are in the Premier League.

"It will not make my job easier in terms of commitment but in terms of having the finances to support our projects.

"My task now is to encourage firms who have had nothing to do with us to take a look and see what we can offer. We have facilities here that can be utilised by almost all of them. The message is by supporting Swindon Town Football Club they are supporting the town."

with Colin Benson

Janet, who hails from the Elephant & Castle, Lambeth, certainly didn't walk into the game with her eyes shut. Already she is responsible for initiating the highly successful Kid-a-Quid scheme that is sponsored by Castrol.

Says Janet: "The scheme has caught the interest of a lot of clubs who are now intending to introduce similar sponsorships.

"Our main sponsors are Burmah and I devote a lot of my time to them. They bring 40 guests to every game and I think that both the company and the club get a lot out of our association.

"This is what makes this job so rewarding. I have met so many nice people - too many to mention here from all walks of life. Supporters, sponsors, representatives. It is amazing, I have made some really good friends very quickly.

"The thing that has struck me most is the love of the people for the club. I can raise an army of volunteers, who don't get paid, but just go out and do their thing for the club ... They are all marvellous."

With a daughter of 15 and a son of 11 Janet has little time to relax. She loves driving, and loves reading but her greatest passion is for clothes ... "That is one good thing about working on Saturday, I can't go out and spend my money on a new outfit!" she jokes.

From Sportsman's Dinners to Businessman's lunches; sponsorships, advertising and promotions Janet has her finger on the pulse. There is just one gap in her diary for this season which she would dearly love to fill. It is the Match Sponsorship for our game with Luton Town on Easter Saturday.

So if you would like to make it an Easter to remember give her a ring. Be it for a business celebration or a private occasion Janet will tell you how you can sup at a champagne reception; tour the ground; indulge in a three-course meal with wine; enjoy half-time refreshments; a post-match buffet as well as a trivia quiz and man of the match presentation. Oh, and of course, watch the match from Executive Box seats ... Seems like quite a party!

Janet Garrett.

Helping the most important people in football

Football is much more than a game of 90 minutes. Every day clubs throughout Britain are providing recreational and sporting opportunities for their local communities.

Much of this has been achieved with the help of the Football Trust. As part of its commitment to Football, The Trust has granted £4M to set up the National Football and Community Development Scheme.

Bringing club and community together, Trust-backed initiatives have provided a variety of local amenities, including:

- Artificial pitches for local teams
- Coaching for youngsters
- Support for women's football
- Facilities for people with disabilities

The Football Trust is helping the game at all levels.

Rowland's RESERVES

Our away fixture in the Neville Ovenden Football Combination with Brighton & Hove Albion at The Goldstone Ground saw both Kevin Horlock and John Moncur return to the side after injury and also gave trainees Stuart James and Steve Lane an opportunity to show what they can do.

As it turned out the games fortunes fluctuated from one side to the other and left me puzzled by the inconsistencies shown again during the ninety minute period. In the first half we hardly created a chance and if it had not been for the inspired form of Nicky Hammond and some poor Brighton finishing we would have come in at half time at least three goals down.

As it was somehow the score remained at 0-0 and at least gave us hope for an improved second half and for at least thirty five minutes we did get a lot better scoring two excellent goals, one from Chris Hamon and the other from Steve Lane from his striking partner's cross.

But after having gone two goals up, having the game virtually won with only ten minutes remaining we lost our concentration, sat back and allowed Brighton to score twice to bring the scores level.

On reflection it was no less than they deserved, although having rode our luck early on we should have been professional enough to take the points.

Following this midweek game we went to Trowbridge Town the following Saturday to play our Wiltshire Premier Shield semi-final and contrary to local press reports we did not have six first team squad players appearing, quite the opposite in fact with only Nicky Hammond and Craig Maskell turning out.

Although we lost the tie 1-0 after extra time to the strongest non-league team in the county, the performance was not as bad as reported.

The sheer size and strength of the Trowbridge side was always going to be hard to match so again the result should not be taken out of context considering the age and strength of the squad.

FOCUS on youth

The two home Allied Counties League games against Thatcham Town and Newbury Town ended in victories maintaining our 100% League record. This record looks impressive but unfortunately the performances have been inconsistent to say the least.

The Thatcham game was disappointing with too many players off form resulting in little rhythm to our game for any length of time.

Creating good openings not always from our good play should have given us a more clear cut win. Our goals were both scored by Mark Walters but were scant reward for the possession we had. Sloppy passing and poor movement off the ball made it hard to string too many telling moves together.

Thatcham never gave up and their goal made the final scoreline of 2-1 closer than the amount of the ball each side had.

This performance was similar to so many others this season, through winning the game too many of the players complicate things with their end product not to the standard we would expect.

The Newbury game could have been a repeat of Thatcham a week earlier as the inconsistency of the players was again too evident.

The thought and appreciation of what to do next was still not good enough. A second minute own goal gave us the ideal start and with two further strikes in the first half from Steve Reeves and Jim Fraser it should have given us confidence to put our style of play into the game in a more dominating way.

Newbury pulled a goal back in one of their few attacks early in the second half. It was not until the final minute of the game before we scored our fourth when Stuart James cut in from the right to put the ball across for James Wise to score.

We have so far managed to maintain that 100% record but have hardly given the kind of performances we would expect with both individual and team performance disappointing.

JOHN TROLLOPE

With most of these lads making up a large part of next season's Youth Team we must look to get a better understanding of the system before the end of the season.

With the lack of South East Counties League fixtures over the past few weeks we have been able to allow Kevin Phillips to play for Aldershot Town in the Diadora League and this will certainly be a good experience for him especially playing in front of over 2,300 at The Recreation Ground as he did last week.
